The Quilt Transitional Community Resource Enterprises

Objectives

The Quilt's Representative payee program can improve the community tenure of persons with mental illness by ensuring that their basic needs, such as housing, are met.

The first priority is to make sure the beneficiary's current needs are being met.

The payee works closely with the individual client to ensure their needs are being met and provides assistance in budget planning, paying bills and money management counseling.

We are bonded and insured.

Mission Statement

The mission of The Quilt Transitional Community Resource Enterprises is to provide personal and financial services to individuals who are not capable of managing their own affairs.

What are Representative Payee Services?

If someone receives monthly Social Security benefits, such as Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments, a Representative Payee can assist in managing personal money affairs. The payee makes sure that the person has a responsible budget, handles bill payments, and manages funds to ensure that all financial obligations are met in a timely fashion.
